The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime to find his sister, Mary, on the dining-room table, pouring salt into a tumbler of water. Aunt Polly asks him if he's ready for the table. Tom tells her he has been skipping school that afternoon and has been absent from school for two weeks. Aunt Polly is not pleased; Tom must be whipped for this. Tom's half-brother, Joe, enters and asks Tom to help him with a project. Tom has sworn the boy to secrecy and decides to help him.

Tom goes out of the house into the streets of St. Petersburg. He is a smart, resourceful, and arrogant boy. He meets Huckleberry Finn, a浪人verse homeless boy, who joins him on his adventures. Tom and Huckleberry talk about Tom's plans and the future.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. A few boys pass by, and Tom tries to get them to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “bill” or a kind of mortgage. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
