The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s misbehavior and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper, but his mother is not there. She has been taken ill about her duties. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom that his father is not to be trusted in the house that afternoon and that he will be skipped school that afternoon and sent somewhere where his clothes are still worn ten years ago, but fast. Tom’s half brother, Huck, sits beside him, waiting to disguise his own sins.

Tom goes out of the house in the afternoon and wanders about the streets of St. Petersburg. While wandering, he meets a boy who has just been released from the workhouse. Tom and the new arrival each enjoy the other’s company and eventually chase the newcomer all the way home. When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whiten the fence. Jos. Harper, the new arrival, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitening. Tom is asked to “white away,” a kind of work. Jos. almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his toil.

Tom comes home at suppertime and tells his folks all about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom he will be skipped school that afternoon and sent over to the woods with Huckleberry Finn to cut wood and clean the bank. Tom's half-brother, Sid, is still away from home, and Tom has to take his place to help with the chores. Tom is not too happy about this arrangement and eventually choosers the woods somewhere in the woods.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his disheveled clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of marble. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
