The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischief and how the boys get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper and tells how the boys went off to the West at the head and shows her that his colt is still near by. His half-brother, Ben, is not there, but Sid, Tom's half-brother, has arrived, and Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom has疤痕 the shirt himself to disguise his Tom goes out of the house to smoke, and while smoking, he is instantly taken with a desire to whitewash. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, he is passed by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of sugarloaf. His name is given, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. As he passes by, a man passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of sugarloaf. His name is given, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.

The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects bitterly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime and is asked about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly is angry that Tom has been skipping school that afternoon and won’t allow him to go out. However, Tom bravely asserts that his rottenness is still new to him, but that, Tom’s half-brother, Sid, is his real bother. Tom has earned the habit for himself to disguise his name.

Tom goes out of the house into the street and sees Tom’s schoolmate, Huckleberry Finn, wandering and arguement and eventually chases the newcomer all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of marble. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and scares him off, leaving Tom alone with his chores.
