The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with pate, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects callously on Tom’s misbehavior and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper. He has been playing hooky from school. He has been skipping school that afternoon and went on a secret expedition to find and recover the treasure buried in an oak tree near the river. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but Tom’s hair is still wet from the rain and the sun, but she lets him get away with too much.

Tom goes out of the house into the street. He is dressed in his Sunday best and excited. He has been working on the treasure hunt all day and eventually chooses the wrong bush all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices how dirty his clothes are and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. She passes by, and Tom lies to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of raffle. He almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chooses him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrical, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. His mother tells him all about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly begins to reflect on the fact that Tom has been skipped school that afternoon and that Tom has not been heard from since. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but Tar. Tom’s half-brother, chases the newsman all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom lies to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “shoe clog,” a kind of muley. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chase him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
