The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she let him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper, covered in dirt and blood. He tells Aunt Polly his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly is pleased to hear that Tom has been skipped school that afternoon to go wrestling. He has wrestled with the best and shows her that his collar is still stung from the buckle of one of the bruisers. Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out the house to attend a wrestling match while Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom and the new arrival cheer and eventually chase the newcomer all the way home.

When he retums home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Joe passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of marble. Joe almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tabor.

Tom comes home at suppertime with a dirty handkerchief. Torn up, Aunt Polly asks him what happened. Tom tells her he didn't go to school that morning and went instead to the woods and smoked a pipe. His clover is still green from his first planting and eventually it will grow and be harvested. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom and his friend Huckleberry Finn are discovered and arrested. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but still, Tom's half-brother Sid has been left to grieve his loss.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whiterush the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "shoe store;" a local storekeeper. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his chores.
Caring on the Clock The Complexities and Contradictions of Paid Care Workers

Caring on the Clock is about paid care workers – the nurses, child care providers, social workers, doctors, domestic workers, and home care aides who perform the essential labor of taking care of people’s most fundamental needs. Caring on the Clock provides a wealth of insight into these workers, who take care of our most fundamental needs, often at risk to their own economic and physical well-being. Caring on the Clock is the first book to bring together cutting-edge research on a wide range of paid care occupations, and to place the various fields within a comprehensive and comparative framework across occupational boundaries.

A nanny reads a bedtime story to soothe a child to sleep. Every day, workers like these provide critical support to some of the most vulnerable members of our society.
