Crusading Peace Christendom The Muslim World And Western Political Order
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime having been Skipping school all day. He tells the whole family about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly asks Tom to go to school the next day and not to be skipped school that afternoon and even evening. As Tom finishes his supper, Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom says to himself, "I get out of this one without much harm and torture."

Tom goes out of the house immediately and when Aunt Polly asks where he is going, he says to go on errands. He eventually comes back to the house.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whiten the fence. As he passes by, Aunt Polly sends Tom to get him to do some of the whitewashing on the fence for a "white ally," a kind of marble. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his任务.
