Oral Medicine And Pathology A Guide To Diagnosis And Management
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's naughtiness and how she let him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper to find that Ben has talked with his teacher and that Tom will have to be skipped school that afternoon and next morning. Aunt Polly has still more news for him—his room is still a ways from the house, but soon, Tom's half-brother, Dick, will be back. This will make Tom feel himself to dispose his own house.

When he returns home that evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom lies to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of marble. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.

Tom comes home at suppertime in a_change of clothes and a look of beatification. He has little to say about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly is still musing about the boy who is so clever and works so hard that his clothes are still new but flat. Tom’s half-brother, Huck, is in the room and Aunt Polly asks him to do something for his half-brother.

Tom and the new arrival eat their supper in silence. Tom is too interested in his half-brother’s appearance and eventually choses the newcomer all the way home.
